Carry on the great work. Push this idea, because I still think in my heart that when you get the best of cabernet and the best of shiraz – not the second, third or fourth cab off the rank – you can blend beautifully. This certainly is something that I am very supportive of.

NEW LABELS TRIUMPH IN THE GREAT AUSTRALIAN RED

The winners of The Great Australian Red 2017 represent an exciting set of relative newcomers, showcasing a continued and exciting evolution for Australia's definitive blend of cabernet sauvignon and shiraz.

In a resounding statement of the value of this blend, the winner of The Great Australian Red 2017 was Pepperjack Certified Shiraz Cabernet 2016, a stunning blend with a street price under $30.

Pepperjack winemaker Richard Mattner blended the wine from McLaren Vale, Langhorne Creek and Barossa fruit after judging The Great Australian Red in 2016.

Pepperjack Certified made its debut at The Great Australian Red in 2015, when the inaugural 2013 vintage won the Trophy for the Best Wine $25-$60.

'It's a thrill to see exciting new labels emerging in a category that has traditionally been the domain of the longstanding players,' said Tyson Stelzer, cofounder of the competition alongside Matthew Jukes.

'It is a great pleasure to judge these wine with such respected wine trade professionals and when it came to the "great reveal", late in the day, we were all thrilled and surprised to see some newer names coming up trumps,' noted Matthew.

'It shows that The Great Australian Red is a dynamic category of wines which attracts some of the finest wine talent in the country from the vines all of the way to the glass.

'Tyson and I cannot wait to tell the world about this year's crop of stunning wines and we are in no doubt that consumers will be delighted to see that value and excellence walk hand in hand at The Great Australian Red.'

Pepperjack won medals for all five of its entries in the competition, and was subsequently awarded The Riedel Trophy for the Best Winery of Show, narrowly pipping Jacob's Creek and past winner Wolf Blass for this hotly-contested Trophy.

The Saverglass Australia Trophy for the Best Wine over $60 and The Quervin Trophy for the Best Cabernet-Dominant Blend were won by Jacob's Creek Expedition Barossa Valley Cabernet Shiraz 2015, a new premium label from this longstanding champion of Australia's iconic red blend.

The Kemeny's Trophy for the Best Wine Under $25 went to Stonyfell The Baton Shiraz Cabernet 2015, a beautifully affordable and delicious blend of Langhorne Creek fruit created by Nigel Dolan at Cellarmasters.

The Great Australian Red 2017 attracted 96 entries, which were judged at the National Wine Centre in Adelaide by Matthew and Tyson alongside PJ Charteris (chair of judges), Tim James, Ian Hongell, Doug Govan, Sam Wigan, Jeremy Maxwell, James Parham, Peta Baverstock, James Hamilton, Nick Knappstein and Anna Hooper.

The Great Australian Red 2017 is grateful to its sponsors Riedel, Kemeny's, Mycellars.com.au, Saverglass Australia, Orora Stelvin, Quervin, Vinloco and Openbook Howden.

VALUE AND PRESTIGE TRIUMPH IN THE GREAT AUSTRALIAN RED

The winners of The Great Australian Red 2016 showcase the apogee of Australia's definitive blend, exemplifying the exquisite synergy between cabernet and shiraz in producing outstanding wines from the very cheapest to the most expensive of all, traversing cool and warm regions and even state boundaries.

In a resounding statement of the versatility of Australia's unique blend, trophies this year were won by an $11 blend, the least expensive entrant, and by a $250 flagship wine, the most expensive. Gold medals and trophies went to regions as geographically diverse as the Barossa and Eden Valleys, Clare Valley, Adelaide Hills, Nagambie Lakes and even a trans-continental blend of McLaren Vale and Frankland River.

The winner of The Great Australian Red 2016 was Hardy's 165th Anniversary Cabernet Shiraz 2014, a brand new and yet to be released blend of a core 110 year old Eileen Hardy McLaren Vale shiraz vineyard and the 45 year old Justin cabernet vineyard in Frankland River, the source of Houghton Jack Mann. This new and contemporary style harks back to the inter-state blends that defined the early history of Australia's greatest blend.

The Trophy for the Best Wine under $25 was won by Tatachilla Partners Cabernet Shiraz 2015, a pristinely drinkable quaffer that epitomises the performance of this blend in outclassing straight shiraz and cabernet in the bargain stakes, with a current street price under $10.

In another demonstration of the value of this blend, the winner of the Trophy for the Best Wine $25-$60 was a $28 blend, Annie's Lane Quelltaler Shiraz Cabernet 2014, a previous winner of The Great Australian Red.

Co-founder of the competition, Matthew Jukes, commented that "No other blend anywhere in the world can produce such exemplary wines at both the cheapest and the most expensive price points."

The Great Australian Red 2016 was the eleventh judging of the competition hosted by Matthew Jukes and Tyson Stelzer. "Since the inaugural The Great Australian Red in 2006, we have been impressed by the ongoing refinement in the category as winemakers focus fanatically on marrying these two varietals together seamlessly," Tyson observed.

The Great Australian Red 2016 attracted 102 entries, which were judged at The National Wine Centre in Adelaide by Matthew and Tyson alongside Tom Carson (chair of judges) and Ben Bryant, Steven Frost, Pete Kelly, Liz Heidenreich, Mary Retallack, Richard Mattner, Tash Mooney, Corey Ryan, Dominic Coulter and Sharon Romero.

LIGHTNING STRIKES TWICE IN THE GREAT AUSTRALIAN RED

It seems lightning can strike the same place twice, with the winner of The Great Australian Red 2014 turning on a repeat performance and taking the same honour in 2015. The yet to be released Yalumba The Caley Cabernet Sauvignon Shiraz 2012 was the winner of The Great Australian Red 2015, the first wine in the ten year history of the competition to win the top trophy twice.

In another unprecedented back-to-back performance, Lake Breeze Bernoota Shiraz Cabernet 2013 won The Kemeny's Trophy for the Best Wine $25 and Under, repeating the performance of the 2012 vintage of the same wine in winning this trophy in 2014.

The sub-$25 class was again hotly contested this year, with 33 entries sharing three gold medals, eight silver and 13 bronze, a higher medal count even than the $60 and above class.

"Every year our judges are astounded by the calibre of the value-for-money class," said Tyson Stelzer, who co-hosts the competition with Matthew Jukes. "It's testimony to the shiraz cabernet blend in producing the most consistent and affordable reds in the country."

Glaetzer Wines Anaperenna Shiraz Cabernet 2014 was the winner of The Orora Closures Stelvin Trophy for the Best Shiraz-Dominant Blend, something of a nostalgic moment in the history of the competition, since the 2004 vintage of the same wine was the inaugural winner of The Great Australian Red in 2006.

Another estate familiar with medals in The Great Australian Red, Wynns Coonawarra Estate claimed its first trophy with V & A Lane Cabernet Shiraz 2012, awarded The A.P. John Coopers Trophy for the Best Cabernet-Dominant Blend.

Another first in the trophy honours, the inaugural vintage of W Salter & Son Pepperjack Certified Shiraz Cabernet 2013 made a rousing debut in claiming The MyCellars.com.au Trophy for the Best Wine $25-$60.

With two golds, two silvers and a bronze medal across its nine entries, Yalumba Wine Company was the winner of The Riedel Trophy for the Best Winery of Show. Penfolds Wines was runner up, with one gold, two silvers and two bronzes across its five entries.

Yalumba Caley Cabernet Sauvignon Shiraz 2012 was the winner of The Tonnellerie Saint Martin Trophy for the Best Wine $60 and Over and went on to be voted The Great Australian Red 2015 in the closest trophy judging in the history of the competition. So close were the scores across all 13 judges that a change in the ranking of the five trophy winning wines by any one judge would have changed the outcome – testimony to the calibre of these five blends.

The Great Australian Red 2015 was chaired by Brian Walsh and panel chaired by Matthew Jukes and Tyson Stelzer. Judges were Tim Dolan (Peter Lehmann), Tim Knappstein (Riposte), Sam Barry (Clos Clare), Ben Glaetzer (Glaetzer Heartland), Andrew Wood (Waywood), Natalie Cleghorn (Yalumba), Adam Wadewitz (Shaw + Smith), Paul Hotker (Bleasdale), Brock Harrison (Jacob's Creek) and Tony Love (The Advertiser).

RECORD RESULTS HIGHLIGHT THE RISE OF AUSTRALIA'S DEFINITIVE BLEND

The calibre of Australia's definitive blend of cabernet sauvignon and shiraz continues to rise, with a record number of medals awarded in The Great Australian Red competition, judged at The National Wine Centre of Australia in Adelaide on Wednesday.

"There is no other wine style anywhere in the world that can produce such outstanding quality at both an affordable price and at a super-premium level," said Matthew Jukes, who co-hosts the competition with Tyson Stelzer.

The 100 entries in the ninth judging of The Great Australian Red this year produced a record 13 gold medals, 29 silver medals, 47 bronze medals and an unprecedented medal tally of 89. "This was not simply a case of generous judging," Stelzer announced at the trophy presentation in Adelaide on Thursday.

Those winemakers dedicated to the cabernet shiraz blend are working tirelessly to refine the style, evidenced by a record medal tally four years running. The results this year also showcase the outstanding quality of the 2010, 2013 and, most of all, the 2012 vintages. 2012 claimed a clean sweep of all six trophies in this year's competition.

An unprecedented four gold medals in the $25 and under class was testimony to the outstanding value for money offered by this blend, with the $18 Gipsie Jack The Terrier Shiraz Cabernet 2012 outclassing a formidable field of higher priced wines to win The Orora Closures Stelvin Trophy for the Best Shiraz-Dominant Blend.

The Great Australian Red continues to track the evolution of the cabernet shiraz blend, and this year the competition judged a range of brand new flagship blends, from Jacob's Creek, Heartland, McGuigan and Yalumba. The winner of The Great Australian Red 2014 was Yalumba Caley Cabernet Shiraz 2012, an all new blend, set for future release, from this longstanding champion of cabernet shiraz.

The Great Australian Red utilises a uniquely rigorous judging system in which two judging panels of 6 judges each judge every wine. The judgements of the two panels are then reconciled by the chairman, who also tastes every wine. In this way, 13 scores count against every wine, affording multiple opportunities for every wine to be promoted or knocked back. "If every wine show were this collaborative, I would pay more attention to wine show results!" quipped one judge during the tasting.

The unique dual panel judging system of The Great Australian Red also highlights bottle variation in a manner that is not always able to be identified in other judging contexts. This year, three cork-sealed bottles were rejected for cork taint and three inconsistent screw capped bottles were rejected. "We urge makers to focus on consistency and quality control during bottling and to embrace closures that do not carry cork taint," Stelzer emphasised.

The Great Australian Red 2014 was chaired by James Halliday and panel chaired by Matthew Jukes and Tyson Stelzer. Judges were Elena Brooks (Dandelion), Mike Brown (Gemtree), Andrew Hardy (Petaluma), Brock Harrison (Orlando), Adam Holmberg (Tyrrell's), Matt Koch (Rosemount), Kate Laurie (Deviation Road), David O'Leary (O'Leary Walker) and Sarah Pigeon (Wynns).

AUSTRALIA'S DEFINITIVE BLEND SETS NEW RECORDS

The outstanding consistency of Australia's blends of cabernet and shiraz was exemplified in record-setting results of The Great Australian Red, judged at the Art Gallery of South Australia on Tuesday.

This year recorded the highest ever medal tally in The Great Australian Red competition, a wine show hosted by Matthew Jukes and Tyson Stelzer to highlight the blend that defines Australia, cabernet sauvignon and shiraz. In total, 77 medals were awarded, representing a record of more than three-quarters of all entries. The judging also recorded the highest proportion of gold and silver medals awarded in the history of the competition, more than one-third of entries. Such unprecedented results evidence the ever rising standard of Australia's signature blend.

In another first, the winner of The Great Australian Red 2013 and The Tonnellerie Saint Martin Trophy for the Best Wine $50 and Over was Wolf Blass Black Label Cabernet Sauvignon Shiraz 2009. This makes a hat trick for this label, the first to win The Great Australian Red three times, following the success of the 2004 vintage in 2007 and 2005 in 2008. This year, Wolf Blass was also the recipient of The A.P. John Coopers Trophy for the Best Cabernet-Dominant Blend for its Wolf Blass Black Label Cabernet Sauvignon Shiraz 2010.

In its fortieth year since it was first made, the success of Wolf Blass Black Label confirms the exemplary position of this historic label as the most successful in The Great Australian Red to date, amassing an unparalleled medal count of seven trophies, nine gold medals, ten silver medals and six bronze medals across eight years of judging.

The Riedel Trophy for the Best Winery of Show was awarded to Yalumba Wines (with two gold, two silver and four bronze medals), narrowly ahead of runner up Wolf Blass Wines (with two gold, two silver and two bronze medals). A worthy recipient of this trophy, Yalumba's success is founded on the most comprehensive portfolio of cabernet shiraz blends in the country. Its four wines have been awarded a tally of trophies and gold medals spanning every one of the eight judgments of The Great Australian Red to date. A regular medal winner in this competition, Yalumba FDR1A Cabernet Sauvignon Shiraz 2010 this year claimed The MyCellars.com.au Trophy for the Best Wine $20-$50.

The hotly contested Get Wines Direct Trophy for the Best Wine $20 and Under went to a surprise newcomer, an exciting new label created by the inaugural winner of The Great Australian Red, Ben Glaetzer. Heartland Spice Trader Shiraz Cabernet 2012 was also awarded The Amcor Closures Stelvin Trophy for the Best Shiraz-Dominant Blend. This quintessential value for money Langhorne Creek red blend was released in September 2013 at a retail price of just $16, proof of the versatility of shiraz cabernet at a bargain price.

A total of 99 entries were received in The Great Australian Red 2013, a little lower than the 2012 record of 118 entries, reflecting in part the challenging 2011 vintage in south-eastern Australia. Many makers did not produce a cabernet shiraz blend in this cold and wet season. Nonetheless, a record medal tally this year reflects an exemplary set of wines, evidence of the meteoric rise of Australia's great blend of cabernet and shiraz.

VALUE WINE WINS THE GREAT AUSTRALIAN RED 2012

For the second year in a row, a bargain blend of cabernet sauvignon and shiraz eclipsed wines up to eight times its price to claim the top trophy in The Great Australian Red 2012. Thorn-Clarke Wines Shotfire Cabernet Sauvignon Shiraz 2010, which retails for AUD$25, is the equal lowest-priced wine to win The Great Australian Red competition, a wine show hosted by Matthew Jukes and Tyson Stelzer, dedicated to Australia's definitive blend of cabernet and shiraz.

The small Barossa estate starred the show, winning three trophies and two gold medals with just two entries, unprecedented in the seven year history of the competition. Thorn-Clarke Wines Terra Barossa Shiraz Cabernet Petit Verdot 2010 was the winner of The Get Wines Direct Trophy for The Best Wine Under $20. A new wine to the Australian market this year, it's priced at just AUD$16.

"Thorn-Clarke's remarkable achievement is further confirmation that the blend of cabernet and shiraz not only represents Australia's most definitive icon wines but also the best value red wines on the shelves," said host and judge Tyson Stelzer.

Big names also featured among the winners, with a yet-to-be-released icon label from Jacob's Creek winning The Amcor Closures Stelvin Trophy for The Best Shiraz-Dominant Blend. St Hugo Icon Shiraz Cabernet 2010 will sit above Jacob's Creek Johann as a new flagship for the company.

The Riedel Trophy for The Best Winery of Show was introduced this year, and Wolf Blass Wines was a worthy winner, featuring as a trophy recipient in most years of the competition to date. Wolf Blass Wines claimed medals for every one of its eight entries this year, including two trophies, three gold medals, two silver medals and three bronze medals.

The Great Australian Red 2012 received a record 118 entries and awarded a record 87 medals, representing almost three-quarters of all entries. Jukes and Stelzer attribute this to the growing interest in this blend, its rising calibre as more winemakers give it more focused attention, and of the exceptional standard of the 2010 vintage, which accounted for all five trophy-winning wines.

NEW BARGAIN BLEND SNARES TOP TROPHY

A new blend of shiraz and cabernet sauvignon defeated wines up to six times its price to win top honours in the judging of The Great Australian Red 2011. Annie's Lane Queltaler Watervale Shiraz Cabernet Sauvignon 2010, which retails for AUD$25, made history as the lowest-priced wine to win The Great Australian Red competition, a wine show dedicated to Australia's shiraz cabernet blends.

"When I first proposed the blend, there was a lot of pressure against it from my marketing team, suggesting that consumers don't perceive it as a premium style," said an ecstatic Treasury Wine Estates' Annie's Lane Winemaker, Alex MacKenzie, who was inspired to resurrect the style after tasting identical blends from the same Clare Valley vineyard dating back to the 1970s. "It's a classic style that is part of the history of the Clare," he said.

MacKenzie takes both the top trophy for The Great Australian Red and the Trophy for the Best Shiraz-dominant blend to the Clare Valley for the first time. Other trophy winners have a strong record of past success in the competition. Yalumba FDR1A Cabernet Shiraz 2010 was awarded Best Cabernet-dominant blend, the Best Wine $20 and under went to Lake Breeze Wines Bernoota Shiraz Cabernet 2009 and The Best Wine $50 and over was snared by Penfolds Bin 389 Cabernet Shiraz 2008.

The judging day coincided with the launch of Australia's most expensive release this year, Penfolds Bin 620 Coonawarra Cabernet Shiraz 2008 (AUD$1000), a past trophy winner in the competition.

The Great Australian Red organisers Matthew Jukes and Tyson Stelzer said the day exemplified the diversity of Australia's shiraz cabernet blend to trump every price point.

The Great Australian Red 2011 received a record of 106 entries, reflecting the growing importance of the blend in a time when many wine shows are experiencing declining entries.

RESULTS 2010

TOP RESULTS FOR AUSTRALIA'S DEFINITIVE BLEND

Australia's signature blend of cabernet shiraz is in top form, according to the results of The Great Australian Red competition judged yesterday. A higher proportion of gold and silver medals were awarded than in any other year in the five year history of the competition.

The results confirm the rising quality of Australia's cabernet shiraz blend, in spite of the climatic extremes of recent vintages. Three-quarters of the entries in this year's competition came from the challenging 2007, 2008 and 2009 seasons.

The consumer is the ultimate winner, with the biggest rise in quality seen at the bargain end of the field. Silver and gold medals were won by almost one-fifth of entries priced under $20, led by sub-$20 trophy and gold medal winner Penfolds Koonunga Hill Seventy Six Shiraz Cabernet Sauvignon 2009, with a price tag of just $18.

The winner of The Great Australian Red 2010 and the trophy for The Best Shiraz-Dominant Blend was Jacob's Creek Johann Shiraz Cabernet 2005. A label with an illustrious record in The Great Australian Red, snaring trophy, gold or silver medals in every year of the competition to date, this is a fitting result for Orlando's flagship red wine and a testament to its finest vintage to date.

Penfolds continued its trophy haul with both the trophy for The Best Wine over $50 and the trophy for The Best Cabernet-Dominant Blend for Penfolds Coonawarra Cabernet Sauvignon Shiraz 2008, a Special Bin wine due for release in 2012.

A medal winner with every one of its entries, Penfolds was the most successful exhibitor in the competition. Outstanding results were also achieved across multiple entries by Yalumba, Wolf Blass, Majella, McWilliams, Jim Barry, Pepper Tree and Lindemans.

The initiative of wine writers Matthew Jukes (UK) and Tyson Stelzer (Australia), The Great Australian Red competition is a wine show focused exclusively on Australian blends of cabernet and shiraz. A unique judging format counts the scores of all thirteen judges against every wine entered in the competition, providing a greater level of rigor than is possible in the usual three-judge show system.

The judges of The Great Australian Red 2010 were Brian Walsh (Yalumba; Chair of Judges), Matthew Jukes (panel chair), Tyson Stelzer (panel chair), Jeffrey Grosset (Grosset Wines), Toby Barlow (St Hallett), Michael Fragos (Chapel Hill), Tash Mooney (Fox Gordon), Kym Teusner (Teusner Wines), Joch Bosworth (Battle of Bosworth), Katie MacAulay (Lion Nathan), Tony Love (Food and Wine Writer), Amelia Jukes (Wine Writer) and Nathan Gogoll (Free Run Press).

In total, five trophies, four gold medals, twenty-six silver medals and twenty-eight bronze medals were awarded across ninety-two entries. The list of medals that follows will be publicly available at www.thegreataustralianred.com from Friday 26 November.

VALUE FOR MONEY SHINES IN THE GREAT AUSTRALIAN RED 2009

The consumer is the ultimate winner in The Great Australian Red competition judged this week, after more than one-third of the thirty-one medals awarded were won by wines priced under $20.

St Hallett's brand new fifteen dollar Gamekeepers Shiraz Cabernet 2008 made a debut splash, winning not only the sub-$20 trophy but also the trophy for the best Shiraz-dominant blend, blitzing wines up to six times its price. This is the first time in the competition that a budget wine has gone on to snatch one of the top trophies.

The result reaffirms that the Shiraz Cabernet blend makes not only some of Australia's greatest and most age-worthy reds but also some of its best value quaffers – a pertinent reminder in current economic times.

The winner of The Great Australian Red 2009 was Yalumba FDR1A Cabernet Sauvignon Shiraz 2006. A champion of this blend for decades and a trophy winner in every year of the competition, this is a fitting result for Yalumba, which also won one gold and two silver medals in the competition.

Another champion of the blend, Penfolds, won the trophy for the best wine over $50 with Penfolds Bin 389 Cabernet Shiraz 2006, the successor to last year's competition winner, the 2005 vintage of the same wine. The company ranked among the most successful in the competition this year, also winning one gold and three silver medals.

A change of venue this year took the judging to the illustrious Balcony Room at Parliament House in Adelaide. The format followed the usual stringent standards for The Great Australian Red, with two panels simultaneously judging the same wines, allowing every wine a second chance to be awarded or knocked back.

The judges of The Great Australian Red 2009 were Steve Webber (De Bortoli; Chair of Judges), Matthew Jukes (panel chair), Tyson Stelzer (panel chair), Toby Barlow (St Hallett), Sam Connew (Wirra Wirra), Stephen Dew (Kaesler Wines), Linda Domas (Linda Domas Wines), Michael Fragos (Chapel Hill), Andrew Hardy (Petaluma), Steve Pannell (S.C. Pannell Wines) and Amelia Pinsent (Country Life, UK).

In total, five trophies, five gold medals, eleven silver medals and fifteen bronze medals were awarded. A list of medals follows. A full list of results can be downloaded at www.thegreataustralianred.com.

AUSTRALIAN RED

THE JUDGING

When we started The Great Australian Red competition, we were amazed that no one had ever done it before. Three years down the line, the wines that have emerged from this competition, both in terms of sheer quality and value for money, are exactly what we wanted them to be when we coined the expression “the blend that defines Australia”. This year we feel that every one of the wineries that submitted samples raised their game by yet another notch, and we applaud this commitment to the one true, iconic Australian wine style.

We spend a lot of time putting together the list of judges each year, trying to find a balance between winemaker, retailer, restaurateur, journalist and buyer. This year’s team was our most highly-experienced yet, encompassing every wine discipline you could wish for and we believe that the results are our finest to date.

At our pre-tasting briefing, chairman Brian Croser set the scene for the coming two days with a masterful speech about seamless balance between the two varietals, integrity of fruit, perfumed aromatics, fine tannins, perfectly balanced alcohol levels and controlled oak. While all of us had respectfully turned our mobile phones off, Matt Cartwright, our legendary logistics expert, received a call from one of his friends and the ring tone which ensued left us all in fits of giggles. Brian was about to begin another heartfelt diatribe when Raiders of the Lost Ark filled the room at full volume. It could not have been better timed, such is the legendary status of this pioneering winemaker. We are very grateful to him and to all of the judges for taking time out of their busy schedules to join us, which speaks volumes for the passion that they, too, possess for this unique style of wine.

Ever the gentleman, Brian presented us with a gift to thank us for his opportunity to Chair this prestigious event. 1979 Petaluma Coonawarra was the first vintage that Brian made and he told us that this was one of his very last bottles, so we carefully set it aside and opened it two weeks later. It had to be the wine to drink to celebrate the completion of writing this book.

With guests joining us for dinner and wine enthusiasm high on the agenda I (TS) decided to serve this wine blind. Hovering over the decanter and pouring carefully, I checked the details of the back label to ensure that my forthcoming options would be factually correct. Assuming that Petaluma Coonawarra was a Cabernet Merlot blend, as it is today, imagine my shock (I bloody nearly dropped the bottle!) when I read that this wine was a 60/40 Shiraz/Cabernet blend made from Coonawarra and Clare Valley fruit. Suddenly everything slotted into place. This wasn’t just a generous gift of an ancient and famous red wine, it was something far more: Brian’s Great Australian Red. When the wine was poured the colour, aroma and flavour were nothing short of breathtaking. As we raised our glasses to Brian Croser and to the completion of Taste 2009, we did so with the perfect wine.

JUDGE’S COMMENTS

With forty-eight consecutive vintages under its belt the winner this year has clearly refined the Cabernet Shiraz style. However, in the current climate and with its enormous corporate owners, Penfolds still manages to pull the rabbit out of the hat and this is testament to the passion and talent of Peter Gago who, virtually singlehandedly keeps this winery’s reputation at the forefront of everybody’s minds, acting as ambassador, winemaker, font of all knowledge and downright good bloke. It is as much a trophy for 389 as it is for him. There is, thankfully, a lot of this wine produced this year so everyone should have a chance to have a decent go at this extraordinary 389.

South Australia clearly has a stranglehold on the Shiraz Cabernet style because of the depth of plantings of both varieties, but Western Australia, Victoria and Queensland all joined in with medals this year, so there is clearly a desire throughout the nation to embrace this phenomenal style of wine.

With large amounts of vineyards at their disposal, it's not surprising that we see a large number of wines from big producers taking out the top gongs, although it is good to see Geoff Hardy's new super-premium appearing for the first time. Just outside of the trophy zone were a host of other small wineries making brilliant wines, and we should support them all.

With medals being awarded to every vintage from 2001 to 2007, with a particular focus on 2005 and 2006, it is clear to see that even in the weaker vintages great examples of this style can be made. This further reinforces that this is Australia's most important style, irrespective of vintage.

AUSTRALIAN RED

JUDGES' COMMENTS

The blend of Shiraz and Cabernet is on an upward trajectory in Australia at the moment. The Great Australian Red 2007 awarded a higher proportion of gold medals, a higher proportion of silver medals and a higher proportion of bronze medals than the inaugural 2006 competition. This is a direct reflection of the standard of this blend in Australia this year.

While the 2006 competition permitted the entry of Shiraz-based wines with a small addition of Cabernet and viceversa, we figured that it didn't make sense that a wine bottled simply as 'Shiraz' or 'Cabernet' could win The Great Australian Red! We tightened up the entry conditions this year to restrict The Great Australian Red only to wines which were labelled as 'Shiraz Cabernet' or 'Cabernet Shiraz'. By Australian laws, this necessitates at least 15% of each variety.

The change proved to be more significant than we expected, lifting the average standard of the wines at every level of the competition. Of 110 entries, medals were awarded to 63 wines comprising 7 Gold, 20 Silver and 36 Bronze. 5 trophies were awarded.

"The greatest expression of the blend of Cabernet and Shiraz is to be found in South Australia's traditional winemaking regions of the Barossa, Clare, McLaren Vale and Langhorne Creek. The experience garnered over generations of growing both varieties in these warm and forgiving climates consistently produces the most complete and balanced examples." – Robert Mann, Judge, The Great Australian Red 2007

"The skilful blending at the upper level of this competition represents a very high point of winemaking in Australia." – Dan Buckle, Judge, The Great Australian Red 2007

SCREWED, CORKED OR STUFFED?

The Great Australian Red 2007 again utilised our unique system of judging, with two distinct judging panels simultaneously and independently assessing the same wines on different tables. This process revealed even more disturbing discrepancies between bottles than it did last year.

Of the 220 bottles opened (2 bottles each of 110 wines), 146 were sealed with screw cap, 70 with cork and the remaining 4 were in aluminium cans. Replacement bottles were called in for 20 faulty bottles, 3 of which were screw-capped (representing 2% variation) and 17 were corked (24.3% variation)!

While discrepancies between bottles can occur for a wide range of reasons (even under screw cap – so be sure to request a replacement bottle if a wine ever tastes suspect), cork taint remains the biggest threat by miles.

And it gets worse. In the results above, we haven't included any of the replacement bottles. In two wines under cork, three bottles in a row were cork-tainted. In another wine, four bottles in a row, and in a different vintage of the same wine, three in a row.

This is utterly appalling! If cork companies have really solved the problem (as they keep telling us they have), why did we find nearly one in four wines destroyed by cork? Winemakers, you should be ashamed of yourselves, too. There are many excellent alternatives to natural cork available, so you have no excuse for this any longer.

Consumers, we've listed the closure next to every bottle in Taste Food & Wine 2008. You know what to do.

THE GREAT
AUSTRALIAN RED

The Great Australian Red is no ordinary wine show. The system of judging is a purposeful variation on that used in traditional show judging. With just one category of wine, divided into five classes over two days, judges have plenty of time to give every wine the consideration that it deserves. For the first time ever in Australian show judging, two distinct judging panels simultaneously and independently assessed the same wines on different tables. Each panel then meets separately to discuss their results and retaste any wines under question. The chairs of the panels then meet with us (Matthew and Tyson) to compare results, collaborate on the medals and retaste any wines for which disagreement still exists. This process adds extra layers of rigour and accountability, giving the best wines a second chance to step forward and the poorer wines a second opportunity to be knocked back. In most cases in this year's judging, the two panels were consistent in their judgments. The bottom line is that this system ensures that we can confidently identify the best wines for you to get hold of.

This process revealed a number of disturbing discrepancies between bottles. When wine show judges question whether a particular bottle tastes as it should, they call for a replacement bottle. This is usually a consequence of a faulty closure. Replacement bottles were called upon for one-sixth of the 166 entries in the competition, reflecting a wide variation in cork-sealed bottles and a slight variation under screw cap. The lesson for you is to buy screw cap over cork every time, but to be aware that discrepancies can still arise under screw cap. If in doubt, open a second bottle.

The judges were very impressed with the standard of the wines overall, with the 166 entries sharing 8 trophies, 8 gold medals, 27 silver medals and 48 bronze medals.

The results reflected the strength of the 2002 and 2004 vintages, with all but one of the trophy and gold medal winners coming from these years. Judge Stuart Knox commented that, "As a group the 2004 vintage wines were the most consistent, a factor of both the closure and vintage, showing balance, length and good fruit weight."

The sub-$15 class demonstrated the fact that the over-supply of fruit across the industry in recent vintages has made some very high quality fruit available at the bottom end. The dominance of screw-cap closures across this class was also noted by the judges as a factor which contributed to the consistency of the class. Some of the standout bargains among the medal-winning wines in this class included Angove's Butterfly Ridge 2005 ($7), Penfolds Koonunga Hill Shiraz Cabernet 2004 ($13) and Secession Shiraz Cabernet 2004 ($14).

Disappointment was expressed in relation to the $50+ class. The judges felt that there was a lack of flair and distinctiveness in many of the wines. Over-use of new oak to attempt to "trick up" the wines was criticised. It was suggested that at the premium end, these wines deserve to have the best fruit resources thrown at them rather than the presumed leftovers from single varietal wines. It is in the fruit source rather than in winemaking tricks that the inherent quality in these wines should be based. Wines which demonstrated quality fruit selection came forward in the tastings. It was noteworthy that all four vintages of McWilliams 1877 Cabernet Shiraz entered in the competition were of medal standard. Other wines which performed well in multiple vintages were Lake Breeze Bernoota Shiraz Cabernet (with both the 2003 and 2004 taking our silver medals) and Penfolds Bin 389 Cabernet Shiraz 2004 (silver) and 2003 (bronze).

The chair of judges, Iain Riggs, commented that the competition "highlighted the fact that South Australia is the home of these blends, although Victoria had a solid input. This aligns itself neatly with the history of these wines, with the majority of the great wines of the 50s and 60s coming from these two states. Quite often the better wine was a blend of the two states." Western Australia and New South Wales were also well represented among the medal winning wines.

Judge Ben Glaetzer said, "The highlight of the competition was that it did not characterise a particular style. The diversity across the show was fantastic. Regionality really shone through – there was true diversity between Langhorne Creek, Barossa Valley and Central Victoria, for instance. I was most impressed with the diversity that was apparent in the sub-$15 class. The wines showed distinctive vineyard characters as well, not just a mish-mash of spicy Shiraz and herbal Cabernet. It demonstrated how well these two varieties blend together.

Riggs pointed out that “Another feature was the strength of Langhorne Creek wines. Again, it just confirms the prescient characters of the Wolf Blass team in the early 70s.”

A dinner focusing on the History of The Great Australian Red showcased the great Shiraz Cabernet blends of the past half-century for the judges and invited guests, beginning with the 1962 Penfolds Bin 60A and working through the great old Yalumba, Wolf Blass, Petaluma, Brokenwood, Wynns and Lindemans wines, to most highly regarded blends of the modern era. The single French Cabernet Shiraz blend served to prove just how well Australia performs with this style. Guest speaker Len Evans AO OBE his speech with these words, “I just say, great work you are doing, and carry on the great work. Push this idea, because I still think in my heart that when you get the best of Cabernet and the best of Shiraz – not the second, third or fourth cab off the rank – you can blend beautifully. This certainly is something that I am very supportive of, and, in fact, this is the reason that I am here tonight.”

It was fitting that The Great Australian Red was launched in the presence of the greatest champion of Australian wine who has ever lived. Len Evans passed away three weeks later. His legacy will never die.
